Kalos Press announces release of latest title, Finding Livelihood by Nancy J. Nordenson.

Oro Valley, AZ, April 15, 2015. Kalos Press, a literary imprint of Doulos Resources, is pleased to announce the release of its latest title, Finding Livelihood: A Progress of Work and Leisure, by Nancy J. Nordenson. Finding Livelihood is a book about work, exploring the tensions between the planned life and the life given and between aspirations and limits.

Commenting about Finding Livelihood, author Luci Shaw wondered, "Can one wrestle meditatively? This author has learned the art and we are the benefactors." Christianity Today editor Leslie Leyland Fields commented, "In this extraordinary new book, Nordenson asks what we all want to know: Can our daily workplace grind really become our daily God-blessed bread?" Marcus Goodyear (of The High Calling) said, "Finding Livelihood is a breath of radical honesty for the workaday Christian. Nancy Nordenson does not fear the long dark night shift of the soul, but neither does she accept it. Her real world stories of people at work inspire and challenge at every turn." And author Bret Lott praised the book, saying, "This is an absolutely timely book, and an absolutely beautiful one too. Ms. Nordenson examines what it means to work, and does so in a lyrical, practical, moving, and spirit-filled way."

Finding Livelihood is available in print for an introductory price of $13.95; standard SRP is $14.95; a digital edition, in Kindle/Mobipocket, ePub, and PDF formats, is also available for $7.99. Both can be purchased directly from the Doulos Resources eStore (<http://estore.doulosresources.org>) or from the book's webpage (<http://www.findinglivelihood.net>).
